

Pressure Area Care

This training course in Pressure Area Care demonstrates the ways in which these ulcers can be effectively treated or completely prevented. Delegates who have little or no experience of Pressure Area Care can benefit from this valuable training course.

Programme/Course Content:

- Anatomy and skin function
- Pressure ulcers defined
- Risk assessment tools
- How ulcers form
- Prevention and management
- Recognising change
- Treatment and interventions
- Pressure relieving or redistributing devices
- Summary and evaluation

Aimed at: Each of our courses can be tailored to meet your team's requirements, whether introductory, intermediate or advanced. We can design the ideal solution to accommodate your team's ability, knowledge, practical experience and previous training.

Accreditation: Compliant with the National Occupation Standards for Health and Social Care Workers and satisfies the requirements of the Care Quality Commission

Further information: For more information, or to book, please get in touch with our team who can answer any questions you might have.

Further information: Pressure Ulcers (also referred to as pressure sore, or damage) has devastating effects and suffering on the patient / service user, family and care workers, not to mention the additional costs of treatment and management of. To prevent this members of the care workforce need accurate and evidence based training that will make a difference to their practice.

Contact our friendly team today to discuss your training needs.